

How to handle a domestic partnership from a previous relationship

Summarized by AI from the post below

Free Legal Advice

Miranda Marino · May 14, 2025 · 🌐

Hello, I was in a previous long term relationship that ended badly. During that relationship he told me to get put onto his insurance through his work i had to sign a paper and get it notarized. Shortly after that i left him and he took me off of his insurance. Fast forward to now i'm getting married to my fiancé, literally on saturday but i was just told that he's bragging to people about how my marriage license will get audited because we were in a "domestic partnership" according to the paperwork i signed in the past & that he will not agree to terminate it. Does anyone know how i go about this? Do i need to cancel my wedding? lawyer up? I'm freaking out!! 😞

👍😱😞 7

60 comments 2 shares

Like

Comment

Share

Most relevant

Cici L'renz

Domestic partnership is not legally recognized. It only is used for things like insurance or banking. Don't worry about terminating it, it holds no weight.

37w

6 👍

View 1 reply

Cathie Theo

Miranda Davis please speak to a lawyer - if it is registered they will hopefully be able to help you expedite the dissolution .

I hope it's not registered and you don't have this headache .

37w

2 👍

Jonathan Atlas Hodges

What state? If you're still in Cali, then you should text him and say "I cancelled my wedding due to our domestic partnership. In California law, you actually owe me alimony." Then watch him panic. Get married though. You're fine.

37w

34 👍😂

View all 12 replies

Heidi Ricciarelli

You do not need to terminate a domestic partnership. You just terminate it. You just break up. He can do nothing to you.

And I've never heard of a marriage license audit. Pretty sure he's making that up. An internet search turns up nothing applicable.

View all 3 replies

Nikki Marie

That's not how it works. Domestic partner ship is for things such as you going on his insurance, or for a mortgage..none of those things would stop your from getting married. He's an idiot...keep enjoying your life! Congratulations! Hope you have a great Wedding Day!

37w

View 1 reply

Cathie Theo
Miranda Davis

In California, you can not be in a registered domestic partnership with one person and marry someone else .... See more

37w

Samaron Arctic Kennels

Getting married in a ceremony and signing a marriage license can be separate.
Do the wedding and work out the paperwork later

36w

Cindy Horton

Domestic partnerships are not leagally binding. In fact they have stopped common wife's too .

37w

View 1 reply

Cindy Horton

Common law marriages are not legally recognized.

37w

View all 3 replies

Stacey Hopper

Get married I agree with what one said tell him he owes you money now see how fast he runs I am not one for lieing but tell him you spoke to an attorney if need be .

37w

View all 2 replies

View more comments

10 of 24

Other Posts

Free Legal Advice

Cortney Clifton · 18m ·

So somebody I know is trying to get visitation for a 6mo baby. He is the father they did paternity and